The Plaza Promise

On September 19th, Plaza teachers have a full day of professional development without students on campus. This professional development is what we will focus on during our minimum day dismissals and after school meetings throughout the year.

This year we are identifying essential writing standards we believe all students should master in each grade level. For example, one standard states that K-8th grade students will write narratives to develop real or imagined experiences or events using effective technique, well-chosen details, and well-structured event sequences. Next, we will pull common academic language from these standards that we expect students to know. In the narrative example, common academic language like narrator, characters, dialogue, transitional words, plot, conclusion, etc. are just some important terms students should comprehend and use regularly. Teachers will also discuss ways we can assess students or monitor progress towards mastering the essential standards. Assessments can be formative or summative. Whereas the goal of summative assessment is to evaluate learning at the end of an instructional unit or chapter, formative assessments occur after a specific lesson or concept is taught and oftentimes is not graded. An example of a summative assessment would be when students are given an assignment where they are to write a three page short story with a beginning, middle, and end, and have character development using dialogue and descriptive details, a plot with action and some sort of conflict, and a conclusion that follows from and reflects on the narrated experiences or events. Formative assessments are usually a quick check for understanding and could be something as simple as drawing a concept map in class to represent their understanding of a topic.

With essential standards, as well as formative and summative assessments, in mind, we are also learning ways to incorporate Universal Design Learning (UDL) and other instructional strategies that address barriers to learning and accommodate individual learning differences students may have. The purpose is for teachers to identify things that may prevent students from mastering a standard before it is taught in order to build lessons to overcome those challenges.

This is all part of the Plaza Promise where we want to ensure students are academically, behaviorally, and socially-emotionally prepared when they leave Plaza School.

Plaza Extracurricular Activities

This year we have lots of great extracurricular activities happening for many of our students. For the third year, Mrs. Osburn is leading the Plaza Chess Club. Students in 5th-7th grades meet after school every Monday and play in several tournaments throughout the year. Keep an eye out for information on a tournament that we will host. Also on Mondays, Mrs. Groteguth has yearbook club meetings after school where students work on creating an amazing yearbook. Mr. Lovell and Mrs. Henning scheduled several football and volleyball games versus Nord School and Hamilton Elementary after school. This week information went out to 6th-8th grade students interested in participating in Club Live. Club Live is a leadership club dedicated to making positive changes in their schools and communities while building students into strong and confident leaders. Club Live will host school and community projects throughout the year.

Picture Day!

Picture Day will be Wednesday, September 7th. This year pictures will be done by Billings Photography, who is a local photographer in Glenn County. Make up picture day is October 11th.

Plaza Community Club (PCC):

This year PCC is changing the annual Plaza Carnival to Saturday, October 29th. This will be more of a fun event with games and activities, and limited food options. Then in April, they will host a dinner and raffle fundraiser. To learn how you can help support these two events, as well as others throughout the year, come to PCC's next meeting on Thursday, September 15th at 6:00PM at the Orland Round Table. Families are welcome and pizza will be provided.

Don't forget to "Like" Plaza Pirate Community Club on Facebook to keep up with all the great things they do for our students and staff!
